

BPMN 2.0 Training

BPMN is the industry recognised standard for modelling business processes. BPMN models increase the level and quality of communication across the whole business, vertically and horizontally. Models don't have just one use within the IT department, they are used for

- Education/Training
- Persuasion & Selling
- Compliance Management
- Analysis
- Software Development

The popularity of the standard is due to the fact that the models can be understood by everybody. They can be used to show how changes in strategy are to be implemented for leadership teams to ensuring company policy is implemented across work teams.

However the key is having models that are correct, complete, clear and consistent. Models that don't have these characteristics will not engage people and get ignored. This training course will train attendees in the correct use of the most common elements which make up the vast majority of BPMN diagrams as well as best practices to ensure that different areas of the business can look at the same model and start talking productively.

Duration

14 hours (usually 2 days including breaks)

Pre-requirements

None

Audience

Attendees who have an interest in producing effective BPMN models such as:-

- Business/Process/Systems Analysts
- Anyone involved with Business Change and transformation